All –

Just confirmed that Miguel and team visited Ms. [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] gave her the data package, and explained everything to her. She was good with it. We did the same with the other individual who had precipitate growing on their faucet. No concerns by either resident. We consider this matter closed.

Ben – Miguel is swamped this week and his available time is diminishing quickly. I'm going to have him connect with you via e-mail and he can provide you with testing/sampling recommendations pursuant to your ideas. Look for something tomorrow.

Thanks and please let me know if you have questions. We still have a few outstanding issues to follow up on with you all....

Scott,

The link below will get you to Scribe – EPA’s data management database tool for emergency response work. If you have problem’s accessing it, let me know. You can download the software here as well:

<https://www.epa.gov/ert/environmental-response-team-information-management>

Also – we’ll follow up on [redacted] and [redacted] data with VT. Here is our sampling summary site for reference: <https://www.epa.gov/flint/flint-water-sampling-objectives> . The “Technical Assistance” tab will have the health/rash data as soon as its releasable.

Ben – I have a call into DEQ about the [redacted] situation; and, am following up with Miguel for a discussion later next week.

Thanks,

Mark
